Course Description

Economics teaches how society manages its scarce resources, how people make decisions, how people interact in the domestic and international markets, and how forces and trends affect the economy as a whole. Personal financial literacy applies the economic way of thinking to help individuals understand how to manage their own scarce resources using a logical decision-making process of prioritization based on analysis of the costs and benefits of every choice.

Students will explore economics with a lense around culture, race and prejudice in varying economic systems.

School Policies

REQUESTS FOR HOMEWORK

Students requiring homework assignments due to extended excused absences (three days or more) should initially contact the attendance office. The attendance office will notify teachers and collect assignments from individual teachers. Assignments should be ready for pick up 24 hours after a request has been made. Please call the attendance office to check homework status.

MAKE-UP WORK DURING ABSENCES

Any time a student misses a class for any reason whatsoever, that student will be expected to contact each teacher and complete the make-up work in order to achieve the learning objective. This includes field trips, school activities, suspensions, group sessions, truancies, and the like. Make-up work is required and students who have been absent from class must request make-up work from the teacher no later than the next class meeting. Teachers will determine a reasonable amount of time for make-up work when students are absent, using a two days for every one day absent guideline.

Teachers may provide an "alternative" learning experience for make-up work to any student who requests it upon returning to class. For example, a student may have been absent from a class at which the daily learning objective was achieved by means of a class discussion. At the teacher's sole discretion, students who were absent during that discussion might be assigned a two or three-page written essay due three or four days after the student's return to class as an 'alternative' learning experience for that objective.

Teachers will give academic credit to all make-up work that complies with the above guidelines. The only exception is that teachers have the choice whether or not to give academic credit to the make-up work from an unexcused absence. If the absence was unexcused, the teacher should provide feedback but is not required to give credit for the work.

Ms. Rouached's Class: All classwork, including journal activities and worksheets, are kept in the back of the classroom in the Student Center. A calendar that drafts coursework is above the model journal and course documents. Students who have planned and unplanned absences are expected to check-in with their table liason. If there are extended absences (more than three days), a conversation with Ms. Rouached is required to ensure student is well and changes that may need to be changed due to coursework,

TARDY POLICY

After three tardies teachers will conference with the student and contact home. After 5 tardies students can be referred to the Learning Center and additional consequences may be assigned.

Ms. Rouached requires all students tardy to class, excused or not excused, to sign-in to the tardy book in the Student Center. This ensures students won't be incorrectly marked absent as attendance is taken at the begining of class.

PASSES

Students who leave the classroom or are excused from class must have a pass with correct validation by the teacher. School officials may send for a student using an authorized Administrative Pass. Students who are without official passes will be subject to disciplinary action. Passes will not be given in the first 10 minutes or last 10 minutes of class.

Ms. Rouached expects all students to "Free Themselves" from personal technological devices when they come into the classroom. The act of "Freeing" yourself of the techonolgy in class is meant to have students let go of the contraits and habits of technology so that they may be fully present in class, prepared to invest in their learning and future. Students are asked to be in the moment, attentive to their learning and respectful to their peers. The class is given one warning, aftwer which if a device is used it is confisquated until the end of class. After three times a phone has been confisquated, a referral may be given to student.
